HENRIETTA:

THE EMPEROR'S LITTLE "FLOWER GIRL." From a Translation by Mr. Thomas of Gen. St. Hillaire's recent work, entitled "Facts Illustrating the Public and Private Life of Napoleon."]

At St. Helena, when the weather was favorable, Napoleon always rode out either in his carriage or on horseback; but as soon as he had become familiar with the confined space allotted to him there, he often preferred exploring the secluded roads. His land is naturally poor, and somewhat stony, and yet by the application of Manures, furnished chiefly, if not altogether, by his own Cattle, he has so improved his worn-out lands, that his cotton crop will yield, the present season, a thousand pounds to the acre, and other products in like proportion.

We might notice his blooded Horses. his Berkshire Hogs, his Sheep, &c., but have not space to-day. But we will add that a visit to Pomona is a strong argument in favor of the superiority of Agricul tural life over the fretful and feverish caeer of political speculation or ambition. W. F. COLLINS. March 14, 1845. CERTIFICATE.

Having been solicited by Maj. Collins to have my Mill adjusted to grind Corn in the Ear and Shuck, I consented that he should do so as an experiment; and I am able to say that it grinds Corn in the Shuck at the rate of 30 bushels per hour; and the dressing of the stones is so improved. that it grinds shelled Corn more than twice as fast as before, and by my watch, at the rate of 15 bushels per hour, and the meal finer than usual. I deem $2½ are nearly all new, the dwelling House having reit a valuable improvement, and shall purchase the 13 cently undergone a thorough repair.
